AUSTIN, TX (APRIL 28, 2010) – Salient Systems announces CompleteView Release 3.5 which includes enhanced video archiving features. Archiving will automatically move video between storage volumes on an ‘administrator-defined’ schedule. Specific recording types such as external alarm, motion alarm and scheduled recordings can be separately archived for longer term storage of high priority events. Archived video is automatically available in CompleteView’s playback mode without user intervention. Full support for all of CompleteView’s investigation tools, such as Smart Search, is available for fast retrieval of video clips based on motion analysis in a designated scene. All video queuing and export functions are fully supported.

Included in this release of Salient’s video management software is full support for ArecontVision’s IP camera product line with emphasis on H.264 support. The new line of H.264 high definition cameras provides security professionals with flexibility and quality resolutions for a variety of applications. “We are pleased to be partnering with ArecontVisions IP camera product line which enhances our technology and offers a comprehensive solution for video surveillance requirements,” explains Per Hanssen, President and CTO of Salient Systems.
